Oghma Partners Grows Team With Two New Analyst Hires

Oghma Partners, the corporate finance advisors to the consumer industries, is pleased to announce that it has further expanded its team with the hiring of two new analysts, following an increase in deal flow over the past year.

Ben Hughes recently graduated from the University of St Andrews where he studied Financial Economics. Ben interned at Corporate Law and Venture Capital firms prior to joining Oghma Partners.

Scott Mounty recently graduated from the University of Bristol where he studied Economics.

Ben and Scott will assist in deal execution across Oghma Partners' buy and sell-side transaction pipeline.

Mark Lynch, Partner at Oghma Partners, said: "We are delighted that Ben and Scott have decided to join Oghma Partners at this time, we look forward to them helping to write the next chapters of our growth story."
